Moore Speaker at Monroe Celebration

The United States "will never turn away from the policy announced by Monroe in 1823 unless it should become so helpless and hopeless as to turn away from what was declared in 1776," Representative R. Walton Moore, of Virginia, asserted today at a centennial celebration of the Monroe Doctrine at William and Mary College here.

"The doctrine is not written in the Constitution," he added, "but it is more fundamental than the Constitution itself. It has never been thrown into the form of a statute * * * but no statute is so authoritative and enduring."

Referring to what he termed "the persistent contention that by the Monroe Doctrine the United States is pledged not to participate in the political affairs of foreign nations," Mr. Moore said:

"It is true that Monroe in his message reiterated what had been stated by Washington, Jefferson and others relative to the disposition of the United States not to involve itself unnecessarily in the concerns of European nations. But there was no suggestion by any of them that our government should subject itself to a perpetual restriction, regardless of any and all charges that might occur, and there has been no promise to that effect made to ourselves or other nations."

"The Monroe Doctrine is a single, comprehensive inhibition, under which the United States has placed the nations of the Old World while leaving itself complete freedom in any contingency that may arise to decide whether it will or will not relate itself to their affairs. This could not be otherwise, because the thing described as participation or non-participation is incapable of definition or limitation."

Lineal descendants of the author of the Monroe Doctrine, headed by Minor F. H. Gouverneur, oldest male descendant, and Mrs. Ross Gouverneur

First Cotillion Hop Will Be Held Tonight

The Thanksgiving Dances will be held under the auspices of the Cotillion Club in Jefferson Hall Gymnasium Friday and Saturday nights, December 7 and 8. In addition to the regular dances at night, a dansant will probably be held Saturday afternoon if arrangements can be made with the orchestra.

The Garber Davis Melodians who delighted the dancing devotees of the College at their first appearance here during the Opening Dances have again been engaged to furnish the music.

According to Russel Stuart, President of the Cotillion Club, practically all arrangements have been completed for these hops which are expected to be one of the most brilliant social events of the season.

William and Mary Men Honored by Governor

Oscar Lane Shewmake, formerly Professor of Law in the College of William and Mary, has been appointed by Governor Trinkle a member of the State Corporation Commission, to succeed Major Alexander Forward, resigned. Mr. Shewmake will assume the duties of his new office December 15.

Since his resignation from the faculty of the College last spring Mr. Shewmake has been Chief Counsel to the Corporation Commission, serving for the second time in that capacity. Before joining the College faculty, he had also served as Counsel to the State Tax Board, and had been engaged in the practice of law for some years in Surry County.

He graduated from the College of William and Mary with the degree of Bachelor of Arts with the Class of 1903, and was for several years engaged in educational work in South Carolina. He entered the Law School of the University of Virginia in 1907, and graduated in 1909 with the degree

L. S. Preliminaries Tomorrow at 8 P. M.

The Annual Freshman Contests between the Phoenix and Philomathean Literary Societies will be held tomorrow night in the College Chapel at 8 o'clock. The program this year is expected to be larger and better than ever before, there being four events scheduled, the Oration, Declaration, Reading, and Debate. Hand-some medals will be awarded to the winner of each contest while the winning society will gain possession of the Phoenix-Philomathean Freshman Banner, which is now in the hands of the latter society.

Phi Beta Kappa Met Wednesday Night

An address by Dr. H. D. C. MacLachlan, of Richmond, was the feature of the annual Phi Beta Kappa meeting at William and Mary College Wednesday evening, December 5. The public exercises in Jefferson Hall were preceded by an initiation and followed by a reception at the library. A large number of guests were present.

Phi Beta Kappa had its origin at William and Mary where in 1776 fifty students gathered to initiate the great academic organization of scholars. In recognition of William and Mary's special contribution the national council of the society is raising funds for the erection of a Phi Beta Shrine on the campus. The movement has been so successful that no doubt is held here that the necessary sum of $100,000.00 will be collected. A site for the building has already been chosen and the general expectation is that work of construction will be begun next year.

INDIANS REAP SWEET REWARD OVERWHELMING SPIDERS 27-6

The Indians crowned a successful season by crushing the University of Virginia at Mayo Island Park, last Thursday, to the count of 27 to 6, marking the largest score that William and Mary has rolled up against Richmond since 1911. The game was the thirty-third played between the two Institutions, making a quarter of a century of football relations.

Old man dope said that William and Mary should win and there was no disposition on the part of the warriors clad in Gold, Green and Silver to upset the dope. They bettered all predictions. A powerful set of driving forwards, using plays that combined speed and deception, swept Dobson's machine completely off its feet.

College To Present Play In Norfolk

A play, entitled "Thomas Jefferson," by Dr. W. A. Montgomery, Professor of Ancient Languages of the College, will be presented by the College of William and Mary at the Academy of Music, Norfolk, at 8:15 P. M., Thursday, December 13.

The play, based upon the life and time of Thomas Jefferson, will portray, in good part, his student life in the College, and one scene will represent the debate in the House of Burgesses upon the Patrick Henry resolutions against the Stamp Act. The spoken parts in this scene will be taken by professors of the College, including Dr. Montgomery, as Patrick Henry, Dr. Goodwin, Professor Gwathmey, Professor Pollard, and others.

The Women's Club of Norfolk is putting on the production, and the entire profits derived from its presentation will go to the Marshall-Wythe School of Citizenship. There will be absolutely no dead-head list, and all seats will have to be purchased. Prices for reserved seats range from $1 to $2, and a committee consisting of Larry Green, Chairman, and George Reilly, Muriel Valentine and Carolyn Kelly, will canvass the student body to determine how many will go.

Arrangements have been made with the Chesapeake and Ohio for a special boat to leave Norfolk immediately after the performance Thursday night, to connect with a special train at Newport News, putting those who desire to return that night back in Williamsburg as soon as possible after midnight.

Dr. Chandler and Mr. Robert M. Hughes, who handling the Norfolk end of the proposition, are earnestly co-operating with the Women's Club in an effort to make the production a success, and it is their desire that all students and townspeople who can possibly do so will go and see the play.

The $1 seats are very desirable, and if possible it is hoped that all students and citizens who go from Williamsburg can be seated together. If you have not already purchased your seat, do so now. See any member of the Committee if they have not already seen you, and make your arrangements to go. Round-trip fare on the train will be $2.60, the usual rate.

A crowd of eight thousand people witnessed the Thanksgiving battle. They were offered a real treat when the William and Mary squad took the field clad in new uniforms, which revived the ancient colors of the College, discarding the orange and black. The Indians were arrayed in gold jerseys with green numerals, and green stockings with silver and gold stripes.

Richmond was decisively outplayed in every phase of the game, registering but five first downs, while William and Mary smothered the Spider line, tallying sixteen times for first downs. The Indians edged their Spider opponents in the kicking game, presented a stone wall defense and displayed an attack that ran roughshod over the cream of the Red and Blue.

The Indians used a powerful running attack in their unstoppable drives, and the series of onslaughts led by Cain, Irwin and Hastings, tore the Spider line to shreds, gaining 268 yards on line plays alone.

The Dobsonites attempted a daring open game coupled with reverse shifts and trick passes, but these accomplished little against the vengeance-seeking Indians, who tackled their shift plays behind the line and converted their passes into Indian touchdowns.

Two Foreign Consuls To Be Guests Here

The announcements of elections to membership in Los Quixotes, the honorary Spanish Club, have been issued. Arrangements are complete for the initiation banquet which will be held at the Pocahontas Tea Room, December 14. Elaborate plans for the decorations will adhere to the Spanish color scheme.

The guests of honor will be: Angel Casarin, Consul of Mexico, and Carlos Lavandero, Consul of Chile. Both consuls are from Norfolk, and will make short addresses.

A Letter

The following letter recently received by Dr. Goodwin, from D. W. Griffith, perhaps needs a little explanation to bring out its humorous value. One Sunday morning while the picture "America" was being filmed at Yorktown, Dr. Goodwin, who preaches at Yorktown, called upon Mr. Griffith during the course of the service, to make a few remarks upon the "Educational Value of Moving Pictures," which he did, and upon his return to his home he wrote Dr. Goodwin this letter:

Dear Doctor Goodwin:

I certainly do regret very much that I was not able to be present during the movie festival at the "College of William and Mary in Virginia."

We did try to appreciate the extraordinary courtesy and kindness showered upon us on our trip. Being beset with the usual troubles and worries incident to this work, however, I am afraid perhaps we did not show our appreciation—whether we did or not, we surely did appreciate all of your thoughtfulness and kindness; and, after reading your letter, I find myself humming dear old "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny."

It requires no actor's efforts to bring tears to my eyes when I think of your kindness and sincere co-operation—however, a terrible fear just seizes me (which threatens to chase away the tears): I am afraid one partner's acting will be as bad as the other partner's preaching. Could it be possible!

With every good wish, and a hope that I shall be able to get a little of the real spirit and importance of dear old Virginia in the pictures, I am

The Preacher Partner,
D. W. GRIFFITH.

P. S.—I think it only fair to warn you that I, as a preacher and perfectly proper member of the community, have my eye on you movie people for staging such a wicked spectacle as cock-fights, which our profession looks upon with peculiar abhorrence!

Medical College Draws Many Students from W. & M.

The Medical College of Virginia draws a number of William and Mary students each year. The William and Mary students in the Freshman Class of the Medical College this year are as follows:

John W. Parker, Victor K. Young, R. R. Soisson, W. O. House, P. E. Prilliman, E. Jack O'Neill, R. C. Alley, W. B. Ashburn, C. Roy Hoskins, H. C. Brownley, Charles B. Martin, L. H. Ginn, George Hess, W. P. Smith, J. B. Pettis and Harry A. Dick.

of Bachelor of Laws. He practiced law in Surry until 1918, when he was appointed Counsel to the Corporation Commission, which position he resigned in 1912 to accept the chair of Government in his alma mater. He was Counsel to the State Board in 1916.

Besides his brilliant record as an attorney and as a teacher, Mr. Shewmake is the author of many articles in legal periodicals, and of many Virginia tax laws, including the inheritance tax law, the income tax law, the law governing the collection of omitted taxes, and the statute defining residence for purpose of taxation.

While at College Mr. Shewmake was an exceptionally popular student. He was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, and on his brilliant record in the class-room received the Phi Beta Kappa key. Besides, he was quarterback on the varsity football team, and was its captain for two successive years.

Another alumnus of William and Mary has been appointed to succeed Mr. Shewmake as Counsel to the Commission in the person of Cassius M. Chichester, Class of 1902. Mr. Chichester has practiced his profession in Richmond for a number of years, and has served for several years as lecturer in law in the T. C. Williams School of Law at the University of Richmond.

He entered William and Mary in 1898, and besides being a brilliant student, was active in many branches of college life. He is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and of the Kappa Alpha fraternity.

AFTER THE GAME

The goal posts are laid at rest; but their downfall brings a feeling of content to many a William and Mary student and alumnus. The Turkey Day affair was all that could be asked for from the William and Mary point of view. Captain Todd led his team to victory in a game that will long be remembered, especially by the Senior Class, as it was the first Indian eleven they had seen triumph over a Spider team in their four long years.

The Indians lived up to their reputation as being a second-half team. According to a Richmond paper "they ripped the Spider line to shreds for gains up to forty-five yards. Once they marched down the field for sixty yards. Again, they tallied a touchdown three times before it counted, two of the plays being called back fifteen yards for holding."

If we contributed this entire column to Coach Tasker's triumph, we would still be lacking in the praise due him. He sent his team on the field in tip-top condition, a coach's greatest problem for a season's last game; a team which he had built into a combination of powerful forwards and a driving quartet of backs, equipped with plays that combined deception and speed and instilled with that fighting spirit that makes victory inevitable—well, there simply was no chance of losing.

There were no outstanding stars, but the fifty-yard pass from Matsu to Jordan, which seemed impossible, and the forty-five yard run of Cain will long be remembered.

The three men, Jordan, Hastings, and Young can lay aside their mole-skins with a feeling of having successfully completed their gridiron careers.

In closing the season we cannot overlook one of the hardest workers of them all, Manager Gay. His successors will find it hard to follow the pace that he established. Striving to satisfy every need of the team, he more than upheld his part of what made a most successful season.

John Todd was awarded a place on the second all-State Eleven. Next year should see him on the first squad, as well as several other members of the William and Mary team receiving recognition among this select bunch.

Basketball Men Begin Training

In response to Coach Tasker's call, seventy-five men reported for the initial basketball practice in the gym last Monday afternoon. Among them were Captain Hicks, Sexton and Todd, letter men of last year, and Harwood a letter man of the year before. With these veterans as a nucleus and the great quantity of material, a strong quint is expected. Among the freshmen there are some experienced players and a hard fight is being made for berths on the varsity.

Work was begun in earnest the very first day, as our schedule calls for three games before the Christmas holidays, with Camp Eustis, Fortress Monroe and the Medical College of Virginia, all to be played at home. After the first practice the candidates were divided into two sections, each of which is to practice three afternoons and two nights a week.

The team will make a number of long trips during the season.

Everything points to a successful year. There is much good material and Coach Tasker has the ability. He proved his ability as a football coach on Thanksgiving Day, and his past record as a basketball coach shows that last year his quint was the only one to defeat Harvard and West Point on their home floors.

THE DYING JINX

We got up early,
And went to the train;
The sky was cloudy,
It looked like rain.
We soon reached Richmond,
Everybody was gay;
We headed for Murphy's,
Cheering all the way.
All the old timers were waiting there,
They had come to the game from everywhere;
The Indian boosters were feeling right,
And very few Spiders came in sight.
At one-thirty-five we left for the Isle,
We were out to win and the crowd was wild;
It was raining a little, but we didn't care,
For where we were sunshine was there.

(First Quarter)

A kick off by Todd, the Spiders received;
They tried to pass, but were deceived;
Our ball, a punt; then theirs, then time;
The ball was resting on our seven-yard line.

(Second Quarter)

A forward pass, then they made a score,
But on the kick they made no more;
a buck, a fake, a pass by our 'leven,
The half was ours, six to seven.

(Third Quarter)

The third began, a penalty or two,
The reason why, we never knew;
We had the ball, the Spiders were routed,
Again we scored, while the old gang shouted.

(Fourth Quarter)

Off tackle for six, and through center for eight;
When the Spiders tackled they were always late;
Two more touchdowns, then a new eleven;
Then the end, Spiders Six, Indians Twenty-seven.

The game was over,
We were happy that night;
Richmond was buried,
We had done our stuff right.

"RENDER UNTO CAESAR—"

There are those who had waited years for such a day as was last Thursday. And there are those who had waited only a month or so. But everybody was more than satisfied with the outcome.

And of that victory has been born a spirit of confidence that can but live and grow. Our ancient rivals, rivals who have conquered us almost consistently for twenty-five years, have at last tasted of decisive defeat at our hands, and, if the prophets are wise, the tide has turned, for a spell at least, and William and Mary will be the runners-up in the next quarter-century period.

But in spite of the glory of the great battle won, there has been too sudden a relaxation by the students into the realm of matter-of-factness. Talk of the game has died out; the heroes of the conflict have again become merely individuals rather than the lauded conquerors of so great a foe.

Silent loyalty is well in certain cases. In this however, more is expected, more is due. Those who fought so valiantly for the cause feel that the students have taken their splendid achievement as too much a matter of course. They do not ask to be deified, nor do they expect to be ignored. But there is a happy medium to be found in expressing appreciation, and each student should feel it his duty to find it. The season is over, but many of them will be back to fight the battles of next year. A little encouragement and out-spoken appreciation would help a lot.

In discussing the place of athletics in College, the main difficulty consists in time for College.

LOVE LETTERS

One thing we can be more than ordinarily thankful for in our advanced state of civilization—the faculty with which we can send and receive letters. Whether they bear pleasant or unpleasant messages, letters are consistently to be regarded as indisputable blessings, with the emphatic exception of those habitually arriving on the first of the month.

A consideration in order of importance would place the love letter first. Which of the intellectual pleasures can equal that of spreading our fervor over a dozen sheets of very collegiate parchment? There is a feeling of intense satisfaction attendant upon writing a love letter. We have brought into play every faculty we possess; we have become in our own way, delicately eloquent, and when the last word has been written, we seal it in deep content. We have accomplished something. We estimate, in pardonable satisfaction, that few people could have sacrificed so much veracity, become so melancholy, or attained the emotional heights that we have.

Love letters possess great literary potentialities. It is unfortunate that we do not consider them more seriously and spend more time in their composition.

Campus Silhouettes

Little, black-eyed, and keenly alert, he appears at first to be rather a reticent observer of the life about him than a participant in its varied phases. On better acquaintance, one finds him a smiling young man and one voluble enough on questions deserving the attention of his quick intelligence. Many a philosophic statement issues from his lips.

With the queenly bearing of a grande dame, she goes calmly and importantly about the business of acquiring knowledge. In oracular tones she dispenses her wisdom, and though she takes herself a little seriously, there is much to be gained from a conversation with her. She is fortunate in possessing a mind of singular clarity, and a disposition habitually pleasant.

Blushing is not necessarily an indication of shyness in this masculine youth. He does blush, but there is a purposeful air about him, and a seriousness of demeanor which endow him with a dignity that years fail to bring to many. He is uncommonly learned, and though he is young, he has not allowed the fact of his eruditions to puff him up unduly.

Exams Announced For Fall Quarter

The regular examination schedule for the closing of the autumn quarter ending Saturday, December 22, at William and Mary College, has been arranged by the committee, consisting of Dr. K. J. Hoke, Professor A. G. Williams, and Professor W. T. Hodges, as follows:

Nine o'clock classes, ten o'clock classes, etc., will meet for examination as shown below, except as the following courses are given special places as indicated:

French, 211; Chemistry, 111, 131, 321, English, 111, 121, 131; Government, 121; Mathematics, 111. Law, 111, 125, 315 and Journalism, 411 to be arranged by professors between 7 p. m., Tuesday, December 18, and Saturday, December 22, 5 p. m.

Tuesday, December 18, 7-10 p. m., Chem. 111, 131 and 321.

Wednesday, December 19, 9 o'clock classes; 1:30-4:30 p. m., English, 111, 121, 131; 7-10 p. m. French 211.

Thursday, December 20, 10 o'clock classes; 11 o'clock classes; 7-10 p. m.; Government 121.

Friday, December 21, 12 o'clock classes; 1:30-4:30 p. m., Math. 111.

Saturday, December 22, 2 o'clock classes; 3 o'clock classes.

No departures from this schedule can be permitted except by special arrangement with the chairman of the committee.

Attention is called to the regulation of the faculty in accordance with which no student, under any circumstances, is to be allowed more than the three hours scheduled.

Following the precedent set by Washington and Lee and other universities throughout the country, the V. M. I. Corps has decided to give to all men who have been on a publication for two years an emblem to show the appreciation of the work being done by student newspapers. Seven men are eligible for these charms, miniature gold printing presses.

Debaters Chosen By Phoenicians

At the preliminaries for debate held by the Phoenix Literary Society, Saturday night, November 24, William Hammock and R. C. Clement were chosen to represent the Society in the coming Freshman Contest between the Phoenix and Philomatheans.

The judges of the preliminaries were Messrs. Swem, Smith and Spicer.

At the preliminaries held on the following Monday night for oratory, declamation and reading, the following were chosen: F. S. Hopkins for reading; Wm. H. Morrow for declamation, and Owens for oratory.

The judges for the preliminaries for reading, oratory and declamation were Professor Gelsinger, Messrs. Withers and R. E. Kyle.

The Freshman Contest will be held on Saturday night in Chapel. The judges for the contest will be Dr. Hamilton, Mr. Gwathmey and Mr. Spicer. Dr. Pollard is chairman of the contest.

Dr. Blocker Visits Friends On Campus

Dr. D. J. Blocker, formerly Professor of Psychology and Philosophy in the College, was a visitor on the campus Monday. Dr. Blocker, who, while connected with the faculty of the College, served as pastor of the Williamsburg Baptist Church, resigned from the faculty a year ago to accept the presidency of Shorter College, Georgia.

Dr. Blocker attended the Southern Association of Colleges held in Richmond last week, and he is endeavoring to have Shorter College, which is a Baptist College for girls, become a member of the Association.

Drama White's Theme In Talk To Y. M. C. A.

Irving H. White, Assistant Professor of English, gave a lecture on the history of the drama at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday, November 20.

Mr. White discussed the drama of Greece and Rome, the rise of English dramatics, and dwelt particularly upon the work of Shakespeare.

"I can never mention the name of Shakespeare without pausing for praise," said Mr. White.

Mr. White is a graduate of William and Mary. He spent last winter at Harvard where he took special courses in the drama.

Art Club Organized Under Miss Carey

An Art Club has been organized under the supervision of Miss Gertrude Carey by the members of the class in Fine Arts and those at the College interested in the subject. The purpose of the Club is to help those interested in art. Later on, exhibits will be held, and out of town speakers will address the meetings.

A committee is working on a constitution and selecting a name for the club.

Officers were elected as follows:

President, Marie Ebel.

Vice-President, Frances Riley.

Secretary-Treasurer, Laura Valentine.

MOORE SPEAKER AT MONROE CELEBRATION

Hoes, President of the Society of Descendants of Monroe, joined the faculty and student body at William and Mary College and scores of visitors in honoring the memory of the fifth President of the United States, who was a student at the College here when he enlisted in the army. President J. A. C. Chandler, of the College, presided at the meeting at which it was pointed out that not only was Monroe a student of William and Mary, but one Senator and eight representatives in the Congress before which his message was read also were students of the school.

Miss Cary Addresses Edith M. Baer Club

The "Edith M. Baer" Club is one little known except to home economics students, as it is exclusively a home economic organization. Its members hope to promote through it greater interest in home economics and to stimulate a love of homelife. They have taken as their purpose this slogan "Make the world more home-like!"

At the November meeting of the Club, Miss Cary, head of the Fine Arts Department, spoke to the girls on "Art," after which plans for the Christmas sale to be held in Tyler Hall, tomorrow night, were made.

This year's officers of the Club are: Elizabeth Gaines, President; Margaret Davis, Vice-President; Louise Moore, Secretary, and Mona Mutter, Treasurer. All girls interested in home economics are invited to become members.

Shell Jones Shells Out Sumptuously

"Make it strong, make it deep," whispered the voice of the cheer leader. Then, "Ray! Jones," rang out 35 girlish voices striving to be lusty and succeeding so well that the dining room roof kept its position with difficulty and the curtains almost flew up with surprise.

The cheer was not given in vain. Mr. Jones bowed and smiled, understanding, the girls hoped, that they thought him a more beneficent soul even than Santa Claus or Cinderella's fairy god-mother.

For had he not on that Thursday night, November 22, given the hockey team a feast which was, in itself, sufficient reward for two months of practice? And is not planked steak, fruit salad, and ice cream more welcome to a college girl used to beans and "gulosh" than a stocking is to a child at Christmas or a coach was to Cinderella at the ball?

ANTOINE LAURENT LAVOISIER
1743-1794

Born in Paris, son of a wealthy tradesman. As a student won a prize for an essay on lighting the streets of Paris. Held various Government posts. A martyr of the Reign of Terror. Founder of modern chemistry.

They couldn't destroy the work he did

"The Republic has no need for savants," sneered a tool of Robespierre as he sent Lavoisier, founder of modern chemistry, to the guillotine. A century later the French Government collected all the scientific studies of this great citizen of Paris and published them, that the record of his researches might be preserved for all time.

Lavoisier showed the errors of the theory of phlogiston—that hypothetical, material substance which was believed to be an element of all combustible compounds and to produce fire when liberated. He proved fire to be the union of other elements with a gas which he named oxygen.

Lavoisier's work goes on. In the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company the determination of the effects of atmospheric air on lamp filaments, on metals and on delicate instruments is possible because of the discoveries of Lavoisier and his contemporaries.

This is the mark of the General Electric Company, an organization of 100,000 men and women engaged in producing the tools by which electricity—man's great servant—is making the world a better place to live in.

INDIANS REAP REWARD FROM SPIDERS 27-6

From the initial whistle the thrills came fast and furious. Jordan, playing his last time in Indian uniform, brought the game's biggest thriller. It came in the second quarter just after Richmond had succeeded in pushing over a touchdown, when he snatched a fifty-yard pass from Matsu out of the hands of two Richmond backs and ran unimpeded for a touchdown.

The Indians, true to form, did their spectacular work in the second half. They ripped the Spider line to shreds for gains ranging up to 45 yards. Once they marched 60 yards down the field on drives through guard and tackle. Cain proved to be the brightest luminary of the William and Mary backfield. His smashing drives disorganized the Richmond eleven, and time and again he broke through their center for thirty and forty-yard gains. "Stink" Hastings, a four year veteran, ended his football career by sharing the backfield honors of the day. He scored the second Indian touchdown on a beautiful end run. "Blunder" Young, seen in action for the last time, divided honors with the Todd brothers in hurling back the Richmond offense.

In the last few minutes of play the William and Mary second team was sent in against Dobson's machine and held them with apparent ease.

The game by quarters:

First Quarter

Captain Todd of W. & M. kicked to Miller on Richmond's 5-yard line. Miller hid on the side line and when the ball was put in play missed a long pass.

Miller punted 30 yards to Matsu, who returned to Richmond's 40-yard line. Irwin gains 12 yards on two plays.

William and Mary was penalized 15 yards for holding. An attempted drop kick by Matsu from the 45-yard line failed.

Savory made 7 yards. Richmond was penalized and Miller punted. Cain gained 6 yards and Hastings made first down. Irwin twice failed to break line, a pass fell short, and the ball went to Richmond.

Savory gained 5 yards around end and two through guard. Mahaney made first down. Miller was forced to punt.

Matsu punted back to Miller, who returned the ball 25 yards, placing it on the Indian's 38-yard line. A pass, Miller to Sanford, netted Richmond 16 yards. Quarter ended with ball on William and Mary's 7-yard line.

Second Quarter

Reese gained 2 yards. A pass Miller to Mahaney, scored a touchdown. Kick failed. Score, William and Mary 0; Richmond 6.

William and Mary kicked to 12-yard line. Richmond lost 5 yards and Miller punted. Indians were penalized on the kick giving the ball to Richmond on the 50-yard line.

Reese failed to gain and Miller punted.

A 45-yard pass, Matsu to Jordan, scored a touchdown. Jordan grabbed the ball out of the hands of two Spider backs and dashed for a touchdown. Matsu kicked goal. Score, William and Mary 7; U. of R. 6.

Todd kicked to 20-yard line. Forward passes failed and Miller punted. Cain gained 5 yards, but Matsu punted.

McCorkle and Sanford failed to gain. Miller again punted, Cain made 7 yards and Hastings a first down. Indians lost ball on downs. Todd intercepted a pass on own 41-yard line. Half ended.

Third Quarter

Todd kicked to 5-yard line. Miller ran ball up 20 yards. Miller punted. Hastings gained four, Cain went through center for 40 yards and Hastings made eight more. A penalty made it first down on Richmond's 1-yard line. Criss-cross play scored touchdown. Matsu kicked goal. Score, William and Mary 14; R. U. 6.

William and Mary kicked. Ball was returned 19 yards. Indian defense was too much and Miller kicked. Matsu made 7 yards and Irwin made first down. Irwin got 5 more and Hastings made it a first. The Indi-

Co-Ed Dance Was A Howling Success

Boys, boys, look to your laurels. You've got to admit the girls' dance last Monday night couldn't be beat. The gym was decorated beautifully, the girls looked sweet and behaved sweeter and the music—well, words don't express it. All we can say is that it was the old Garber-Davis with several new and pleasing additions.

And the boys all had a wonderful time. At first several pained expressions were noticed and even a few whispers of "If I get stuck, I'll die," were overheard.

But this secret fear soon died out, for girls are kindly creatures and the breaking was fast and furious.

After the orchestra had played "Home, Sweet Home" and all were leaving, we heard one blissfully tired boy murmur, "The end of a perfect night. Only one catch in it—my girl didn't buy me a sandwich at intermission."

ans continued their terrific drive, carrying the ball to Richmond's 2-yard line. The ball went to the Spiders on downs. Miller kicked 40 yards. Quarter ended.

Last Quarter

Hastings and Matsu made 15 yards and Cain broke through center for 25 yards. Hastings circled end for touchdown, but referee called ball back on 15-yard penalty. Cain in one drive carried ball over for touchdown. Referee again called ball back on a penalty. A criss-cross play and a drive by Cain again carried the ball across goal line. Matsu kicked goal. Score, William and Mary 21; Richmond 6.

Todd kicked to 5-yard line. Bloxom made 7 yards. Lee Todd intercepted a pass on the next play and raced 15 yards for a touchdown. Matsu failed at goal. Score, William and Mary 27; Richmond 6.

The William and Mary second team took the field. William and Mary kicked to 15 yard. Indian subs held and Bloxom was forced to punt. Chalkley punted back to Spider's 12-yard line. Game ended.
